

Congratulations on taking the first step in treating your toenail fungus! Treating toenail fungus is essential, not just because it is unsightly, but because it can also spread to others, change/damage the nail structure, or make it painful to walk or stand

What to expect from ClearToe Therapy:

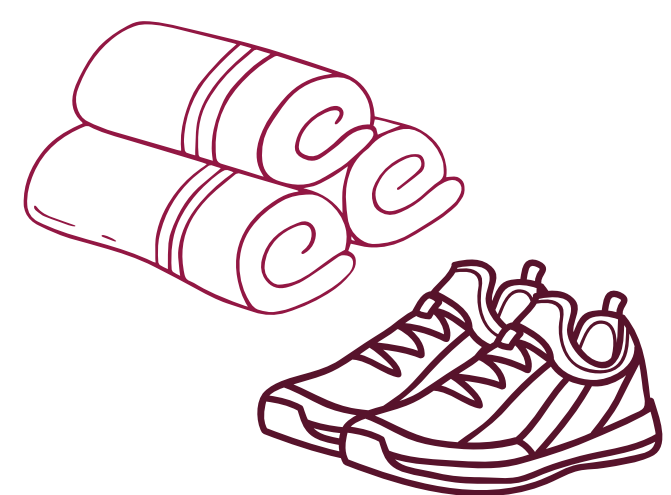

Before Treatments: There is no need to pre-treat your toenails in any way. Bring a pair of clean, dark-colored socks to your appointments. Additionally, bring a book, laptop, or phone to take advantage of the downtime while undergoing treatment. Your clinician may take some photos of your toenails to help measure progress.

During Treatments: The clinician will file down the infected toenail(s). Next, the ClearToe Serum will be applied. The ClearToe Therapy Light will then be placed over the toenails.

The Clear Toe Serum works by binding to the fungal cells and staining them in a way that makes them vulnerable to destruction by light. The blue color will fade after approx. 7-10 days. ToeFX studies showed that 80% of patients prefer a temporary blue color to a yellow/brown toenail infection. As the infection clears, less blue will be retained between visits because there is less fungus to adhere to. Wearing nail polish is not recommended. However, if nail polish must be applied, please remove it promptly (within 48 hours) to avoid creating a “moisture trap” (fungus loves moisture!).

Between Treatments: Remember to adhere to lifestyle advice (launder towels and linens, wear clean socks every day, and disinfect shoes, to name a few) and ask your clinician for information on how to care for your feet to prevent the growth and return on toenail fungus.

Maintenance Treatments: Once your toenails are clearing up, your clinician may recommend maintenance treatments every 6-8 weeks to avoid relapse.
